There will be no Skywarn / Hurricane Prep net this week due to the VoIP Hurricane Net activiation.
This also means general connections to the repeater nodes' from other stations on Echolink has been suspended until the net stands down sometime early next week.

Yahoo group: KC4QLP_Repeater_System
Date: 2004-12-01 02:36:08 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 47 Message: 47

December 4th, this Saturday is Skywarn Recognition Day.
National Weather Services Offices and participating stations will be making contacts via HF, VHF/UHF and by VoIP throughout the day.

We will make available IRLP Reflector 9219 (921-ch.9) bridged to Echolink WX-Talk Conference available for contacts from 0000 local until 2359 local time this Saturday.

So pop up on the repeater and make a contact.

We understand that the Hurricane Center as well as many other NWS offices will be using the VoIP system for many of their contacts.

http://hamradio.noaa.gov/ is the National link for details.

--------Help with Balloon Payload recovery--------

From Darren, AG4BF

There is a high altitude balloon payload that is located NE of Fayetteville. It is a balloon that was launched from Huntsville, AL and I chased it as far as Greenville, SC. Is this something that someone could recover for me? The battery life is around 86 hours and was launched around noon today. It will be xmitting WB8ELK-11 on 144.39 it is a small Styrofoam container with red duct tape wrapped around it. It has a reddish parachute and has a 1/4" wooden dowel that holds the antenna. There is an address for Bill Brown that you can send it to. He will be very gracious. It looks like it is in a field and the coordinates are:

Winter Weather 2004 - Special Tar Heel Emergency Net
December 7th at 1930 EDT / 2330 UTC.

Jeff Orrock, the Warning Coordination Meteorologist for the National Weather Service (NWS) in Raleigh, will present a training presentation entitled "Winter Weather 2004" for the benefit of amateur radio operators involved in providing emergency communications. Jeff is an experienced meteorologist who has served in eastern NC and has a talent for presenting scientific information in a way that non-meteorologists can understand.

Besides being carried locally on the PCRN network, we have been asked to make provisions to stream the live
"broadcast" feed to the VoIP network, available on:

IRLP - Raleigh Reflector 9210

Echolink - Charlotte "Linux" Conference
Echolink - WX_TALK Conference

57. The Friday night Ham Technet...the inside scoop on what happened

Yahoo group: KC4QLP_Repeater_System
Date: 2004-12-19 04:43:33 UTC
From: KC4QLP@aol.com
Topic: 57 Message: 57

For those that saw the "news flash" regarding a Friday night Ham Technet and tuned in for it and did not hear the net...wel there is a good reason.

The net did not make it to the linking system as the station that is orginating the net is working on a different internet connection. A high speed connection should be up and running soon and when that is connection problem is resolved,the net will return.

We are told that this will happen soon so stay tuned.

BTW, I have decided to make this group, Echolink-Open_list an offical sponsor of the CANADA conference, node # 123799. Many thanks for the guys on the ENGLAND conference for allowing us to join in with all of the activity.

Folks, conference nodes are under used. As a result, the folks with Echolink are not instating any new conference servers. So lets link up our links, repeaters and desk top nodes and lets get some round tables going.

Lots of activity with a nice round table tonight on the CANADA / ENGLAND conference nodes.....so pick up the mic..connect and join in the fun.

64. Repeater providing local/international support for Tsunami disaster relief

Yahoo group: KC4QLP_Repeater_System
Date: 2004-12-30 00:30:57 UTC
From: KC4QLP@aol.com
Topic: 64 Message: 64

All "regular" scheduled nets will not take place on the repeater system as the repeater is linked in to help provide any type of support needed for the Tsunami disaster, relief and recovery efforts.

This means connections to and from other nodes has been suspended until this event is over.

Sorry for the inconvenience in that regard.

Anyone that has traffic to pass into and out of the Asian nations, feel free to jump in and pass the traffic here on the repeater.

73,

Hello, WORLD.

Any use the EchoLink Java Client v.0.5.86 by W5GGW ???

We have tested it and here are the opinions:
First fluent testing JAVA-EchoLink Clitnt v.0.5.86 from W5GGW Is made.
The screenshot can be looked here. The general conclusions: 1) the program is not working good, brakes and is frequent shows errors (-);
2) Russia and Ukraine is mixed on signal (-); 3) Ukraine as the country in the Europe is not designated (-); 4) there is no opportunity of work from a proxy servers (-); 5) does not display all stations of Russia in the list " By Location ", however in "Connected" they is (-); 6) in a bookmark of installation of audio-parameters installations of buffering of a network and PC are not remembered (-);
7) does not work ' Sysop-Mode ' and the menu ' Sysop-Setting ' does not open (-); 8) the interesting interface (+); 9) while the program not breaks, the audio works more pleasantly, than in program EchoLink from K1RFD (+). [UR3IRS, UR0VS, RV3DHC]

Any ideas or opinions?

The KC4QLP_Repeater_System currently located in Elizabeth City NC will be relocating to the Mohawk Valley of Up State NY toward the end of the month/early September. Operating frequencies will be of course changing, but the echolink nodes/eQSO node will not be changing. The system and nodes will be off the air/off line for hopefully just a short period of time being 8/28/05.

Your repeater operator/node operator has been named the new engineer for a few radio stations in and around New York state.

The system is up and operational in Mohawk NY. Although the system has been on for a few weeks now for the recent hurricane nets, the system is now open for general use...all except for the eQSO node which will remain down until a "lost in a box" network cable can be found.

The frequencies have changed. The 10 meter and 440 operation will be down for a while, however the 2 meter frequency is 145.240[out] 144.640 [in] PL 131.8hz. Coverage is very local until a few other things are settled.

A new conference server is now online and is ready for use.....

KC4QLP ARES & General QSO [0/500] ON node # 267137

This server can also be used as a listen node for the activated VoIP WX nets, with ARES to serve as a backup listen node. Due to a server outage during the last wx event and the loss of ARES before the net activation, the server hosting the KC4QLP conference is much more reliable and has more capacity.

Gratitude of thanks goes to Mark, G4LCH for doing the "leg work"...putting it altogether and intermip.net for the server hosting.

KC4QLP Echolink / eQSO cross link is now fully functional. The cross link had been a one way link for eQSO users to use to listen to Echolink traffic. The cross link is now a two way link. From echolink, it can be found at node 56704 or connect to node 267137. From eQSO, look for the KC4QLP-R conference room. The audio may need some work...some clean up. Anyone using the cross link is encouraged to give audio reports via email so final adjustments can be tweaked.

NOTE...during times of VoIP WX Net activations, the cross link will be temporarily setup as a one way link, making the eQSO node a listen only connection

Something that may be of interest to everyone, there is a program that allows the crosslinking of Echolinks text box to APRS via various commands. The program is in the files section of the group, give it a shot and let me know how it works for you.

Also it has been brought to my attention that eQSO had a bit of trouble recently. Going to eQSO's website, one is greeted with this message...

"eQSO registration is closed due to updates needed because eQSO registration was compromised by people hacking the software, so there is no registration and no download of software. We are working to correct this problem and it should be sorted as soon as we possibly can. We do appologise for any inconvenience, to find out more visit the eqso forum."

The current users of eQSO are still able to get onto the servers and carry on as usual, just no new users are able to get on board right now. It should be interesting to see what method of registration will be used the next go around.

Hello to all….

TROPICAL STORM FAY LOCATED NEAR CUBA FORECASTED TO REACH HURRICANE STRENGTH

AFFECTED LAND AREAS INCLUDE CUBA, FLORIDA KEYS, AND WEST COASTAL FLORIDA

TRACK MAY RESULT IN LONGER DURATION NET ACTIVATION DUE TO CONTINUOUS THREATS TO LAND

Tropical Storm Fay has formed near the Dominican Republic and is poised to affect Cuba beginning tomorrow and head on a track towards the gulf coast of Florida. Fay is forecasted to reach hurricane strength by the time it reaches Florida if not sooner. WX4NHC will activate beginning at 6pm / 22:00z on Sunday and the VoIP Hurricane Net will follow suit.

For those who wish to monitor this net and for those that are -NOT- in areas that would be effected by Tropical Storm Fay, you may connect to conference node 290251 KC4QLP-C on Echolink or for those who have eQSO abilities, you may connect to the -LISTEN ONLY- node, the KC4QLP-R node.

{ BTW, Echolink users, please do not try to connect to nodes 56703, 56704, and 89052 as those node do not allow multiconferencing [nodes are connected to 290251]...connect only to node 290251, eQSO node is a listen only node 24/7, shoutcast webstream coming soon. }

EchoLink:
KC4QLP-C Node: 290251
VKEMCOMM Node: 270177
N5API Node: 77433

A streaming audio feed has been setup thanks to the assistance of David McAnally-WD5M. This is the first time he has setup a streaming audio server so please bear with any technical difficulties. The links are listed below:

http://wx5fwd.net:8000/voipwx.mp3
http://wx5fwd.net:8000/voipwx.ogg

The net is also available in listen only mode on eQSO...the KC4QLP-R node for those of you that have access to eQSO. [this setup was last available in mid 2005!]

I setup a streaming aaudio server and patched in audio from my repeater...the stream is up and running at the following URL http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8082 {any audio echo that was on the stream has since been corrected remotely]

It is playable via on desktops, laptops and PDAs via Winamp, Windows Media or any other player that supports mp3 type streams. For various cellphones, google and download RadioBee or MFRadio for play back on those devices. Finally got time to come up for air...taking care of lightning damaged gear here at the TV station today. Fun stuff! yeah.

It is noted that the .A command is not functioning. The command should read, "Echolink/APRS addon to send messages to "Callsign", use: > Callsign message.

In other words if KC4QLP-R wanted to send a message to Y0UTXT, you would format the line in the echolink text box to read like this ....
>Y0UTXT hello!
The APRS station would simply reply to the message in a normal fashion.

153. VOIPWX NET Tropical Storm Hanna listen nodes

Tropical Storm Hanna is about to bear down on the Carolinas late Friday into Saturday. The KC4QLP-C Echolink conference server is still being used for those outside of the storms effected area for those that wish to monitor net activities which will begin at 6pm eastern, 2300 UTC Friday. The net can also be monitored via eQSO in the KC4QLP-R "room" and via the web at _http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8082_ (http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8082/) and begining Friday at the following websites...._http://www.scanamerica.us_ (http://www.scanamerica.us/) and _www.w2lie.net_ (http://www.w2lie.net/)

I'll be giving wx condition reports via the echolink text box from our current location....our old QTH (location), visiting Elizabeth City NC....accessing Echolink via a cellphone and remote pc program on the cellphone...and listening via the webstream here. The text infomation will be read by whoever is net control at the time, so info can be passed to the National Hurricane Center. (I'll be out of here and back in Central NY by the time IKE makes a pass through the region, if the steering currents pull IKE up the east coast)

Doesn't look like Hanna will amount to a huge deal here in northeast North Carolina...strong winds, heavy rain and some minor urban and sound side flooding and minor beach errosion along the Outer Banks. We shall see what pans out.

158. This may eventually have an effect on all users subcribed to Time Warner Cable

Yahoo group: KC4QLP_Repeater_System

I was observing my local news today on my day off and saw where Time Warner Cable is up to their no good stuff again. Now they are testing metered internet service in four additional markets in the USA...one being close to me, Rochester NY. It will be only a matter of time before TWC expands this nonsense to rip customers off in all markets across the USA.
Today...and going into the rest of the month, I am sending my ISP of Time Waner Cable a message...I just signed up for Verizon DSL.

If you are with Time Warner Cable.....make a switch to DSL ...3mbs/768kbs ...29.99 bucks a month! Can you pay TWC the same for the same service? NO!
Take a peek here for more info...
http://www.dslreports.com/shownews/Time-Warner-Cable-Expands-Metered-Billing-101655

Anyone operating an Echolink node, eQSO node, Webcam, etc. etc. etc. on Time Warner under a metered plan....ohyie! $1 for every GB that you use that is over the plan that you purchased...and how does the average consumer keep track and know exactly what they've used? It is nearly impossible. TWC could say you used 20 GB over and charge you and you'd have no way to keep THEM in check. Do I need to say more? This could have a serious impact if laws aren't inacted to prevent ISP's from being able to do whatever they want.

What I am doing here...switching providers will not have any effect on the conference server...only the eQSO server and the individual nodes on and around 4/13/09.

Time for everyone to send these rats a message. If every other person in every city/town dropped TWC, switch to DSL for internet, switched to DirectTV or Dishnet for TV and put up an antenna and bought an HD TV or converter box for FREE over the air reception, eventually TWC would not have anyone they could rip off. Companies like this must be stopped!

Been listening to a group of guys over the past week running what one could consider as Internet ATV. The program used is called Dwyco (_http://www.dwyco.citymax.com/page/page/700292.htm_ (http://www.dwyco.citymax.com/page/page/700292.htm)) The program is used to send the video while the audio is conducted over Echolink on conference server KC4QLP-C node number 290251. This works great if you have a cable or DSL internet connection. Dial-up users will experience too many missed packets on Echolink ...so low bandwidth connections will not work....or work very well.

There is usually someone around that can help you get started and help you with your video/audio settings.

163. Echolink conference server KC4QLP Central NY Conference server is now -ONLINE-

Echolink conference server KC4QLP Central NY Conference server, node number 267137 is now -ONLINE- and is connected into the KC4QLP-C conference server. Test it out and report any quirks that you might find.

Two ..ok three, no, four things going on here now.
1). The KC4QLP conference server will be called upon at various times this summer and early fall for hosting/relaying the Family Net on Wednesday and Friday and the Amateurs For Christ Fellowship Net as the KC4QLP-C conference server may be called into duty for the VOIP WX net for providing a listen only node for that net. I'll keep everyone posted well in advance when that situation comes about. Meanwhile the two servers are connected together, each serving as a back-up to the other should a server go down and stay down.

2), An IRLP experimental reflector number has been applied for and will be assigned to the KC4QLP conference, node 267137. Another one will be assigned to the 10 meter link when it is ready for "show time."

3) Working on another computer here so that the 10 meter node can be put online. The frequency will be 29.500 FM, simplex. It won't be running much power at the start...10 watts at the most, but eventually I hope to have it at 100 watts into a 5/8 wave ground plane at 20 feet AGL, 428 feet ASL. This link will be online and connected to the conference servers and to the KC4QLP-R node as well. Band openings should be interesting. BTW, the KC4QLP-R repeater is moving....not across town but slightly up the dial. The new frequency will be 145.290 mhz given that the blessing is given by the local repeater coordinating group.
and last but not least...

4) I have yet to get around to having eQSO reauthorize everything so that my server shows up in their list. Meanwhile, the server is online still, at _http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8087_ (http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8087/) .
Meanwhile, the audio stream continues at _http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8082_ (http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8082/) for non-hams and anyone else away from their radio and echolink software. The APRS crosslink will continue as it has proven to be useful during...or just after this past Sundays net as there was one fellow that tried to check in via APRS from The Netherlands, but the net had closed.

Pray that it all comes together and that the resources, material wise and financially wise come together to make it all happen and continue...all for His Glory ....as we use every means possible to spread the gospel and to reach those that are lost and that need salvation.

207. Haiti Net operations, listen only node.

Given the level of traffic and the on going operations, I have setup conference KC4QLP-C, node 290251 as a listen only node for those wishing to monitor net operations without fear of interfering with net operations. When connecting, if possible disable multiconferencing or set your node as busy so the conference killer script doesnt disconnect you.

Along with W8BAD http://www.ustream.tv/channel/voip-amatuer-radio outlet for webstreaming, http://kc4qlp.dyndns.org:8002 is up and running for a limited number of connections for people wanting to listen via streaming audio. (cell phone friendly)

Subject: [RAC-Bulletin] RAC Bulletin 2010-002E : Haiti, the Amateur perspective

RAC News Bulletin - January 17th, 2010

Haiti, the Amateur perspective.

We have all seen the tragic human toll and devastation of the Haitian hearthquake as reported by the media. We have been asked what the Amateur community is doing about it.

To our knowledge, since the hearthquake, less than half a dozen Hams have been reporting from Haiti and have done so very sporadically. Most have severe constraints for electricity, fuel or other required facilities.

Apart from a couple of Hams embedded with the UN or the Red Cross, none other have succeeded to enter the country and stay to operate.

Yesterday, a convoy of Dominicans made up of representatives from that government and including 8 Amateurs, entered Haiti by road on its way to their Embassy in Port-au-Prince. Almost at destination they were attacked by gunfire resulting in one dead and several wounded. All 8 Amateurs are safe. The convoy turned around and is now safely back in the Dominican Republic.

Outside of Haiti,there are scores of Hams listening on the published HF frequencies for emrgency communications and ready for any QSPs.

Here in Canada, our Vice President Field Services, Doug Mercer, VO1DTM, is watching the situation very closely, ready to give any help that might be needed.

We also have French speaking operators like Gerry, VE2AW and Richard, VE2DX, that are ready on the frequencies to speak to anyone in need in Haiti.

We are also getting ready for the future. At the Request of the Salvation Army SATERN I have recruited about 20 Hams, fluent in French, that are now poised to leave for Haiti when required.

This is the situation as of now and we will update you when we have something significant to report.

73,

Daniel A. Lamoureux, VE2KA
Vice President International Affairs, Radio Amatuers of Canada
